In the Blink of an Eye

One man's battle to get his life back after locked-in stroke left him totally paralysed. Peter Coghlan is an ordinary bloke whose life is transformed, for the second time, after a knock to the head. So begins an extraordinary story of recovery. Peter takes the reader on a journey that will appeal to those who can relate to Peter's circumstances as well as those wanting to understand what it means to be 'Locked-in', what it takes to break free and how to build a new life. A story told in two parts, it is (at times) uncomfortable, drawing the reader into a reality where what happens is not in his control; but Peter's easy dialogue, honesty and irrepressible humour make that journey very well worth taking with him. Be prepared to laugh, cringe and cry. His story offers some answers, but also raises many questions about the obstacles to overcome and what 'success' can look and feel like, as well as shining a light on how society can view people with disabilities. Despite many setbacks and difficulties, at the heart of this story is an acknowledgement of the sacrifices he and others made, with a deep appreciation of the love, care and professionalism shown by those helping him along the way to becoming Peter Coghlan - reborn.

People share the Earth with creatures large and small. You may not always see them, but they are watching you. Through the densest forests, behind the reeds, across the fields and savannahs, animals keep us in their sights, always ready to dart away from danger. If you have the patience to observe your surroundings, you may catch a glimpse of the different living things sharing your world. Dieter Wiesmüller celebrates the liveliness of nature through his stunning illustrations and lyrical text, which show young readers that animals in the wild are just as curious as they are. Children will love to explore their once-familiar surroundings and figure out what they're seeing-and what's observing them.

Blink of an Eye

This is the autobiography of Michael D. Virkaitis's ("Mike Vee") life up to now. It was fun for him to tell friends and family some of the experiences that happened to him that were usually amusing and other times sad. He could talk about his experiences for hours upon hours. His listeners kept saying to him, "You should write a book." After thinking about it for years, he said, "Awh, what the hell, I'll do it." It's been well over seven years now since he started writing, and it certainly was not easy; however, recalling some of the good times made it well worthwhile. He got the name In the Blink of an Eye because in recent years, time has raced past him and has been nothing but a blur. So much has happened, but for some reason, most of these last twenty or so years have not been computed and stored within him. It surely was a blur. Why did it pass so fast? What did he miss? He really wishes there were do-overs. Mike was a successful high-ticket-item technical salesman. He had tried and-true methods. In this book, he reveals some of the strategies that made him successful and trusted. His name and reputation is still highly respected in the industry he worked in. Mike's methods of attaining success could be a guide for those of you beginning your climb up the ladder and memories to those of you who passed this way. Mike's philosophy was focus on what's ahead and where you are going. The past is something you cannot change. Live with it. It surely is part of the building blocks that will help you succeed. Always remember his favorite proverb: "You are not judged by how many times you fell, you are remembered by how many times you got back up.”

In the Blink of an Eye

Life Goes By in the Blink of an Eye started out to be just about me and all the events that could have resulted in a short life for me. In high school, I totaled four cars, no seat belts and steel dash boards. In the Navy, I was an electrician and got electrocuted twice, waking up both times. No CPR in the 60s. I got shot at but not because of the Vietnam era I went through, but by some irate boyfriend one night. I had a bullet hole in my '55 Chevy back window. I was in a storm for four days and nights that caused our ship to almost sink. The night orders read, "SURVIVE!" But what about my mom and dad's side of the family? So then it became an obsession! For six months, I dug in libraries for birth and death records, ships logs war documents and more.

As a soldier, Peter Coghlan faced bombs, bullying, murderous mobs and Hodgkins Lymphoma, the aggressive cancer which ended his military career. But after moving to Perth, Australia with Jade, the love of his life, there was no time to dwell on the past as Peter enjoyed a pre-dinner drink on the patio with friends and family. The future on that hot, sunny evening seemed as bright as the weather until, suddenly and shockingly, his dreams were shattered by a massive brain stem stroke. A frantic dash to hospital and emergency surgery rushed by in a blur and it was only when Peter awoke from a coma that he realised the awful truth. The stroke had left him virtually paralysed, imprisoned in his own body. At least he could blink. Using an alphabet board to communicate, he spelled out his determination to get back everything he'd lost. This true life account of one man's fight against Locked-In Syndrome (LIS) is in turn heart-breaking, hilarious, harrowing and occasionally shocking. Yet, thanks to Peter's amazing courage, In the Blink of an Eye is never less than inspirational as he faces his greatest battle of all.

IN THE BLINK OF AN EYE.

There was one lap to go in the 2001 Daytona 500, NASCAR's most celebrated event. Michael Waltrip and Dale Earnhardt Jr. were running one-two. Junior's legendary dad, the driver race fans called "The Intimidator," was close behind in third, blocking anyone who might try to pass. Waltrip couldn't stop thinking about all the times he'd struggled to stay ahead--and the 462 NASCAR Cup races he'd lost without a single win. He'd been a race-car driver all his adult life, following in the footsteps of his brother Darrell, a three-time NASCAR champion. And his losing streak was getting more painful every race. But this day, he knew, could be different. He was driving for Dale Earnhardt now, racing as a team with his close friend and mentor. Yet as his car roared toward the finish line, ending that losing streak once and for all, Waltrip had no clue that the greatest triumph of his life could get mired in terrible tragedy. This is the story of that fateful afternoon in Daytona, a day whose echoes are still heard today. But the story begins years earlier in a small town in Kentucky, with a boy who dreamed of racing cars, a boy who was determined to go from go-karts to the highest levels of NASCAR. For the first time ever, Michael Waltrip tells the full, revealing story of how he got to Daytona, what happened there, and the huge impact it had on so many in the racing world. He reveals for the first time how his own life changed as he dealt with guilt, faced his grief, and searched for the fortitude to climb into a race car again. It's an inspiring and powerful story, told with Michael's trademark humor, honesty, and irreverence. It's a story of family, fulfillment, and redemption--and well-earned victory in the end.

In the Blink of an Eye

This book is about my life journey. I came a long way, starting out in the Middle East, and then my journey took me through Europe, before I arrived here to the "promise land." I have lived under Fascism, Communism, and now Capitalism. I experienced firsthand the three ways of life in the twentieth century. As a young person, I survived the bombings in Hungary during World War II, the long train ride to Germany, and the life in the Camp and begging in the street for food so that we can have another day to live. I lived through the 1956 Hungarian uprising against communism and the dictatorship they stood for, survived the escape after the Russian Army invaded Hungary that crashed the peoples hope for a better future. All this experience made me stronger, more understanding, more tolerant, and a better person in life. I was extremely lucky throughout my life journey. I know God guided me all the way because without His help and His protection I would not be here today. I lived my life based on what I saw and learned from my parents when I was growing up and what I saw and learned from my adopted parents in this country. The values I received from my parents are my inheritance from them.

With his mind as cognitive and as active as it had always been, his body became his painful prison. IN THE BLINK OF AN EYE is Hasso's moving and life-affirming memoir. At 42 Hasso had to come to terms with a life 'locked in', being dependent on others for every breath, but worst of all, losing his most precious of possessions: his voice. The only way Hasso could communicate with the world was by blinking his eyes. And using coded blinking and state of the art technology, he wrote this incredibly moving
